Diagnostic Software Activation: Activation@Web

WABCO diagnostic programs must be activated within 10 days of installing them on your PC. This is a simple and easy task if the workshop computer is connected to the Internet; the alternative activation is by fax but this is complicated and it takes time.

With our new Service Activation@Web, it is possible to perform the activation yourself at any time. This is done by entering your activity data in a web-form on any Internet computer. The unlocking code is then transferred (by using an appropriate storage medium) to the computer, on which the WABCO diagnostics program is located.

This is how it's done:

| Work steps | | Screen display |
| Download | After subscribing, go to www.wabco-auto.com. Click on the following links in this order: "WABCO Diagnostics" => "WABCO System Diagnostics" => "Download Software" => "Diagnostic Software". After selecting the program and entering the user data, the download begins. |  |
| Installation and start of the activation process | Transfer the loaded files to the workshop computer and install the software. After starting the program, go to "Request activation codes". |  |
| Transferring user data | Note the data surrounded in red and green. Make sure to observe upper or lower case. Experienced users can transfer data to a text file with a click on "E-mail" and transfer it with a USB stick. Close the window with "OK". |  |
