

27.11.2011

Our new homepage is online!

WABCO University has a newly designed website. It is now even easier to book WABCO training courses online. You no longer need to register separately - simply enrol yourself or your employees quickly and easily onto all the courses. You can search for topics from the start page and find appropriate WABCO University courses and dates.

The 'Coming up' overview of available training courses is even quicker. One click takes you to the enrolment form. Of course, you can still enrol multiple participants using a single form. Registration, enrolment process, booking for/of e-learning does not change.

The new homepage also provides comprehensive, attractive information on our training programmes on technical training, e-learning, business training & consulting service. And our new navigation system helps you to find your way around more easily and might even tempt you to have a browse. Films, current articles, information on, for example, financial sponsorship options, and much more are the perfect incentive to surf for a while. There is also an overview of all our training centres around the world and a new contact form to make enquiries quick and simple.

The new WABCO University website helps you to find the information you need and plan your training efficiently. Visit us online!

www.wabco-university.com

We look forward to your enrolments and queries.